

BUTE HALL, UNIVERSITY OF GLASGOW
3 NOVEMBER 2009

Purpose

Michael Russell, Minister for Culture, External Affairs and the Constitution has called this summit to consider how the historic environment, as part of the wider built environment, can help deliver the Government's Purpose; how it contributes to the National Outcomes; and how Historic Scotland can contribute most effectively to this as we move forward.

Programme

Registration, Teas & Coffees	09.00 - 10.00
Welcome and introduction: Ruth Parsons, Interim Chief Executive, Historic Scotland	10.00 - 10.05
Mike Russell, Minister for Culture, External Affairs and the Constitution	10.05 - 10.20
Adding value: the historic environment as part of a bigger picture
Jim Mackinnon, Chief Planner and Director for the Built Environment, Scottish Government	10.20 - 10.35
Malcolm Cooper, Chief Inspector, Historic Scotland	10.35 - 10.50
Alistair MacDonald, Head of Planning, Glasgow City Council	10.50 - 11.05
Tea/coffee	11.05 - 11.35
Break Out Sessions	11.35 - 12.15
Plenary chaired by the Minister	12.15 - 12.50
Going forward in partnership
Ruth Parsons, Interim Chief Executive, Historic Scotland	12.50 - 13.00
Lunch	13.00 - 14.00